REPUBLICANS WIN.

DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT OF KANSAS.

DOUGLASS HOUSE THE LEGAL ONE.

Justice Allen Dissents—Chief Justice Horton Delivers the Opinion, Reviewing the Law and the Facts of the Case—Leading Populists Say They Will Accept the Court's Decision.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 27.—The supreme court Saturday, Chief Justice Horton rendering the decision, Justice Johnson concurring and Justice Allen, Populist, dissenting, sustained the Douglass or Republican house as the legal and constitutional house of representatives of the Kansas legislature, and incidentally declared that the acts of the Dunsmore or Populist house had no standing in law. The opinion of the chief justice occupied an hour and forty minutes in delivery and fully exhausted the subject.

Leading Populists say they will accept the decision of the court until the next election when they will go before the people confident of being sustained in their course. The present session of the legislature expires by limitation March 8, when it is expected the governor will call an extra session. The pay of members for an extra session is limited to $90, which limits the session to thirty days. This is more than enough time for the legislature to pass needed laws.

When the Douglass house met Saturday, Chambers, the Comanche county Democrat, arose to a question of personal privilege, saying that it had been rumored that there would be another United States senator elected by this legislature. He desired to say further that during the last two days he had received letters and telegrams from his Democratic constituents of Comanche county and from the Seventh congressional district, protesting against his participating in such proposed election and in obedience to their wishes he desired to state to the house that he would not take part in the election of another United States senator during this session of the legislature.

This action of Mr. Chambers seems to settle the validity of Senator Martin's credentials as without the assistance of Chambers, the Republicans may not hope to elect another senator. The Populist house has decided to publish an official statement of the last controversy in the reform papers of the state. Messrs. Howard, Barnes and Brown are preparing it.

A TREASURY CRISIS.

Financial Situation Not Encouraging—Gold Supply Nearly All Gone.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The fight in the house on the sundry civil bill and the Sherman bond amendment is certain to be a hot one.

The silver men in the house Saturday began filibustering against the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill. Though the prediction has not been made in open house, the feeling is general among members that already run sixteen years and is now worth $60,000.

Bancroft's Library to Be Purchased.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—After Mr. Herbert's house bill for a bridge at Montgomery, Ala., had been passed in the senate to-day, the legislative appropriation bill was taken up and an amendment was agreed to appropriating $75,000 for the purchase of George Bancroft's library of historical manuscripts and reprinted books and pamphlets.

Chicago Police as Union Men.
CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The police force of this city may be represented in the trade and labor assembly in the near future. The project is in the hands of Officer Edward McCann, who says he has been approached on the subject by prominent labor men. The men are organizing to secure the same wages as are paid in New York, Denver, Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

Commutation for Wrecker Harper.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The president granted a commutation of sentence to May 1 to Edward L. Harper, ex-president of the Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, who was convicted of a violation of the federal banking laws and sentenced December 2, 1887, to ten years imprisonment in the Ohio prison.

Sailing Under the American Flag.
New York, Feb. 27.—The New York sailed to-day under the stars and stripes for the first time. River craft screeched their whistles in welcome and hundreds of persons ashore watched the American boat on her initial trip. Ex-Secretary Foster and Senator Morgan were aboard.

AN AWFUL DEED.

An Atlanta, Ga., Girl Deliberately Kills Her Two Sisters.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 27.—Saturday afternoon a few minutes before 2 o'clock, Miss Julia Force, 38 years of age, shot and killed her two sisters, Florence, 30 years of age, and Minnie, 25 years old. She then walked to the police station and gave herself up, saying she had committed a crime and desired protection.

It is believed that the woman is insane. She has been considered irresponsible at times and had frequently threatened to kill members of her family. She says that she has for a year been writing out a statement of the family troubles and just completed it. The Forces are one of the foremost families of the South, and the tragedy has caused an immense sensation. The funeral of the murdered girls took place yesterday and was the largest ever held in Atlanta.

Mr. Carlisle's Clerks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—O. O. Steeley, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who was secretary to Mr. Carlisle when he was speaker, will be offered the place of private secretary to the secretary of the treasury. Frederick Stock, the present chief clerk of the treasury, will give place to Logan Carlisle immediately after the 4th of March. Mr. Stock goes back to Blue Rapids, Kan., to become cashier of the State bank.

From Fame to Poverty.

OLEAN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Lucy A. Macklem, who was once engaged to Chief Justice Chase and was first cousin to Commodore Perry, died last week in Olean. She won some fame in the field of literature, was later a lecturer and gained prominence as a

SOME PIRATE BLUNDER.

Some Discoveries Made by a Sea Captain in the Gulf of California.
There are millions of dollars worth of pirate treasure sunk away near one of the islands in the gulf of California, according to the statement made by Captain S. D. Metcalf.

"One hundred years ago very little was known about the gulf of California, so you can see that there was an extreme probability that the cautious pirates would grasp the opportunity of making it a place to hide and make repairs and store their plunder.

"While poking about the gulf I made researches, and about five years ago I hit on a startling discovery.

"While sailing about in my schooner for hides and other things I accidentally came across a 'closed' harbor at one of the islands where I touched. Although my schooner was a small one I feared to take her in, and went in a small boat.

The precipitous coast line hid a view an entrance into the island. Through this entrance I went in my boat. I found the passage about 100 feet wide and about a mile in length. It then took a sudden turn and broadened out into a fair-sized harbor, about two fathoms of water at lowest tide.

"At the northern end of this harbor, where the water maintained depth to the very edge of the beach, were the evidences of a small settlement.

"It consisted of a score or more of log and adobe houses, which time had dealt very kindly with.

"In some of the houses were piles of furniture, such as tables, chairs and cooking utensils.

"I returned to my schooner, piloting her up to the settlement, remained there several days, making extended researches.

"I found several old-fashioned tools, a cutlass and some other trinkets which I have retained.

"While rummaging about in one of the adobe houses I ran across a chest that was folded away in a lot of papers, which at first I did not consider of much value.

"After I sailed out of the place the idea kind of struck me that the chest might possibly tell where the pirates hid their treasures.

"The map was on parchment, though the lines had been marked with indolible ink it had faded considerably.

"In some places the lines were indistinct as to be almost unrecognizable.

"A month afterward I returned to the spot where I had made the discovery and I determined upon finding what the map led to. "I spent several weeks trying to make that map fit the surroundings of the harbor, but could not do it. "But somehow or other I could go away. The idea of unearthing private treasure held me to the place. "I resolved to remain a longer and if I could not make out the map I would not fail of the map I would
