POLICE RESERVE CALLED OUT.

After a Sharp Conflict the Mob Was

TROUBLE EXPECTED TODAY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The fermenting unrest of the unemployed in this city has at length burst bounds, and on the East Side today there was an explosion. A riotous mob possessed itself of property which it had no money to hire and to which it had been for-bidden entrance by the owners. There is in the city, however, no panic or fear among the people, but absolute confidence is reposed in the police to quell the restless elements.
Nevertheless the situation among the labor-less thousands is sharply pressed upon public attention by the occurrences of today.

There is evidently a plan of campaign on the part of these people. This was today evidenced by the fact that the king of the cloakmakers, Joseph Barondess, called at the Mayor's office and asked for a permit to hold open air meetings of workmen on Union square. The Mayor sent for the secretary of the Park Board, and after consultation told Barondess he might, on application to the park department, have permits for meetings
twice a week. Barondess is also, as a condition of the granting of his request, to notify the police, so that a full force may be present to preserve order. This will bring the fermenting forces of workmen and the police face to face, and the result will be closely and anxiously watched.

A crowd of more than 5,000 men attacked
Walthalla hall, 48, 50 and 52 Orchard street, because admittance was denied them. They smashed the plate glass windows to atoms, forced in the door, which had been turned against them, and forcibly took possession of the place. Several persons were cut by the flying glass. All sorts of missiles were used,
and finally the police from the Eldridge station were ordered to the scene.

Crowds Begin to Gather.

The success of the spontaneous meeting of the unemployed and the parade here yesterday was the signal for a much larger gathering today. As early as 8 o'clock this morning men began to assemble in the vicinity of the International Labor exchange on East Tenth street. They were mostly Russians, and represented principally the clothing trades. There were cutters, garment-makers and hat-makers.

Crowds Begin to Gather.

The success of the spontaneous meeting of the unemployed and the parade here yesterday was the signal for a much larger gathering today. As early as 8 o'clock this morning men began to assemble in the vicinity of the International Labor exchange on East Tenth street. They were mostly Russians, and represented principally the clothing trades. There were cutters, garment-makers and hat-makers in the crowd. At first they gathered in small groups of a dozen or more. Then these welded themselves and entered the building. At 9 o'clock, the crowd, which was without a leader, had grown to over 1,000. Every minute added to them, and at 9:30 at least 3,000 were there. When it began to rain the few who had umbrellas raised them, but others got wet.

When 10 o'clock came the street in front of the exchange was black with people. The large hall down-stairs was packed. So were the stairs and every one of the little meeting rooms up-stairs. Bar-tenders stood ready in expectation of doing a rushing business, but not a single drink was bought. Finally a voice cried that that place was too small; that even if a meeting was intended it would be impossible to hold one. The same voice suggested Walthalla hall on Orchard street, and instantly the cry was taken up: "Walthalla hall!" "Walthalla hall!" As if with one impulse the crowd fell into line and the march up the street to First avenue and along to Allen street into Orchard, where Walthalla hall stood only a few doors away. The crowd can be imagined from the fact when the head of the line had reached Allen street the others were still in Tenth street, a mile away. When passing the Fourteenth Precinct station several policemen put their heads out and it saw seen the reserves had been held in readiness. The crowd was orderly.

Word of the coming of the unemployed had reached the hall, and in the absence of Fleigman, the owner, his son and daughter got ready to defend the place. They barred the doors and then demanded through the key-hole what was wanted. The reply came back that they wanted to hold a meeting in the hall, but had no money to pay for its use.

Property Ruthlessly Destroyed.

They were told they could not have it. There was a crash of glass. Paving-stones had been seized from the street, where they had been lying around. The moment the first pane of glass was smashed everyone seemed to throw caution to the winds. Pane after pane of the plate glass went in, and finally the door was also forced. Mr. Fleigman's daughter, a young girl of 18 years, tried to get in front of the crowd as it swept in, but she was thrown aside. The unemployed men swept chairs and tables aside in their eagerness to hold the meeting, and they had just about settled down to business when word of the affair was sent to the Eldridge police station. The sergeant at once called the reserve section.

The reserves, about fourteen men, started on a double-quick pace for the scene. It was then that pandemonium broke loose. The sons and daughter of the owner of the hall insisted that the men should be arrested. The roundsman saw this was impossible. He, however, asked if they wanted the hall cleared, and on getting an affirmative reply, he proceeded to do it. One of the ward detectives was with him and he tried to seize a man who had mounted a chair and was speaking. The speaker was dragged through the crowd, and with a policeman on each side was sent to the station house. The crowd followed, while some remained in the hall.

The roundsman said he would clear the hall at any cost, and more policemen were sent for. He changed his mind for the moment by leaving the hall and directed his men to clear the streets, which were getting choked up. The first prisoner was a tailor named Roseman. He was pointed out as the leader of the mob. Two other arrests were made. One of the prisoners was Joseph Gild, tailor, of 103 Hester street, and the other A. Simon of Richardson street, also a tailor. They had assisted in the attacks on the doors of the saloon. The howling mob followed the officers to the station, but the prisoners were safely locked up.

Meanwhile the crowd at the hall had not dispersed, and the little room in the rear of the saloon was packed with shouting Poles and Russians. Fleigman thought it was best to let them remain in there, for in reality he was afraid they would kill him if he interfered with them. Inside there were about 100 men talking excitedly all at once in Russian, which no one could understand. The doors leading to the saloon were locked and the people inside were allowed to have it out among themselves in their own way.

The Government Condemned.

The leader of the foreigners seemed to be W. Belkowitz, who said he lived at 222 Madison street. He made a speech in his own tongue which stirred up the audience to the highest pitch and the howls and yells could be heard outside in the street. He afterward told a reporter the object of the meeting was to discuss some means of finding employment, as the families of these men were starving. He explained that in his speech he told the crowd there ought to be no discrimination against Russians and they ought to be able to apply for work on equal terms with Americans or those of any other nation. What he advocated was an appeal to the government to furnish them with work. If there was no work to be done the government ought to make work for them. Several other speeches were made denouncing the government for not giving the people work.

Joseph Barondes arrived at the hall and made an address. He urged the crowd to leave the hall. The proposition created opposition, and the men cried out they would not leave the hall until the men arrested were released. Barondes argued with the crowd, but to no purpose, and finally he asked if they would leave if he secured another and children being among the passengers. The two claimed to have given the conductor, Amos B. Leminger, $1.40 to pay their fare, but he insisted that they gave him only half a dollar. After a few words had passed they struck the conductor several stinging blows, then jumped from the car and escaped. Leminger was not seriously injured, but the affair created intense excitement among the ladies on the car.

IT WAS A BIG FIZZLE.

The Meeting of the General Managers Comes to Naught.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 17.—The general managers of the Chicago roads met at the Grand Pacific hotel today to discuss the situation. The meeting was a failure, as not a single Eastern line was represented. The discussion closed with the appointment of a committee which will work up a meeting to be held in September. It was generally supposed the question of reducing wages would be taken up, but it was not, and the meeting was entirely general in its character.

There is a well-defined fear among many of the lines that the existing financial conditions may force one or two small lines into the hands of receivers, who will run the road with the sole idea of making enough money to pay expenses, and will be heedless of association agreements. To ward off any possible disorganizing of business from this source, and to devise means of saving such of the small fry as may get into deep water, was another reason for the calling of the meeting, but in this respect also nothing was done. Other matters were disposed of in the same way, and nothing looking toward action was done.

NO CHANGE IN RATES.

The Majority of the Lines Vote Down Cheap G. A. R. Tickets.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 17.—People in the West desiring to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Indianapolis can buy a regular ticket at the regular World's fair rate to Chicago and pay $3.65 for the round trip Chicago to Indianapolis. All visitors to the encampment must go via St. Louis or Chicago, the round-trip rate via St. Louis from Kansas City being $14.50, and via Chicago $18.15.

This was decided at the meeting of the Western Passenger association today. Any number of schemes were proposed, but all were set upon, and the best result was no reduction, the World's fair rate being already in existence and $3.65 being allowed by the Eastern lines. The matter of low rates to the fair for Illinois day was killed outright. The balloting on this was secret, but the highest number of votes cast on any plan for lower rates was six out of a possible twenty.

THE GREAT WESTERN WINS.

It Beats the St. Paul Union Depot Company in Its Suit.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 17.—The Chicago Great Western road today won another victory over the Union Depot company in the Supreme court in the celebrated contest for admission to Union depot privileges. The court affirms the former decision and says that to require the railroad company to pay the claimed value of the stock of the Union Depot company in order to use the tracks and depot owned by the Depot company would be to unjustly discriminate against the road. The fight has been on since 1885. The Chicago Great Western wanted to purchase the shares of stock necessary to entitle it to Union depot privileges at the original rate, whereas the Depot company has claimed a price much above that, and the Great Western has won.

Barondes argued with the crowd, but to no purpose, and finally he asked if they would leave if he secured another and larger hall. This was assented to, and Barondes left to secure Clarendon hall. Besides the excited men who thronged Wall-halla hall, there were 1,000 others at Covenant hall, 56 Orchard street. A speech was made from the curb-stone by one of the men in which he said unless the three men were liberated from jail the jail would be stormed. At Wallhalla hall a series of resolutions were passed. The resolutions set forth that the men are peaceably disposed; they want and must have work, and workmen are warned to prepare themselves in future for a repetition of the conduct of the police. The three prisoners were later arraigned in court. Manager Fliegman refused to make a complaint. He said the men would boycott him if he pressed the complaint, and he preferred standing the damage. He was also afraid a prosecution would involve serious injury or death to himself. There was nothing to do but release the prisoners. Justice Voorhees denounced the man for his cowardice when he released the men. While this scene was being enacted in Essex market the police were moving with reserves and swept down on Wallhalla and Covenant halls at the same time. Many bruised heads resulted from the encounter. Those driven from the halls, which are not forty feet apart, gathered about the policemen and the more enthusiastic set up cries of "stone them."

There was another rush and the men were tumbled into the gutters and an all-round rough and tumble fight took place. The men struck right and left, some times hitting their fellows in their blind rage. The policemen again used the club, scattering the men. Without a leader, and with policemen's bills waving in every direction, the crowd, when driven into the street, knew not which way to turn. They were forced away. Where the men will meet tomorrow is not known.

WILL GO TO CHICAGO.

A Battalion of the Third Regiment To Pitch Camp at the Fair. The Second Battalion of the Third Regiment, N. G. M., will leave for Chicago to attend the big military encampment at the World's fair, Wednesday, August 23. The route has not yet been decided upon. The battalion will be under command of Major Flemming and will be composed of Company H, commanded by Captain Collins; Company C, Captain Kendrick; Company F, Captain Hentley; Company I, Captain Lechtman, and Company B, Captain Dixon. The Third Regiment band, under Lieutenant Wheeler, will accompany the excursion. The other companies composing the Third Regiment will not attend in a body, but members are invited to join any of the other companies and make the trip.

The battalion will remain in Chicago until September 1 or 2. It has been assigned quarters in the grounds, and will be located at the west end of the Midway Plaisance. The Kansas City boys are the only members of the Missouri army whose quarters are inside the inclosure. They will be joined in Chicago on the day of their arrival by Companies A and G of St. Louis. Other militia companies will arrive later. Director General Davis has invited the battalion to give an exhibition drill on the plaza in front of the Administration building on Missouri day, August 23. Governor Stone, Adjutant General Wickham, ex-Captain Waldridge of the Treadway Rifles, and now Mayor of St. Louis, and Colonel C. D. Comfort of the First Regiment, will be guests of Major Flemming and his staff during the encampment.

A Cause of Dissension Removed.

Special to the Kansas City Times. PARSONS, KAN., Aug. 17.—A large grading force, in the employ of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, is now at Clayton, Mo., for the purpose of putting in an overhead crossing over the tracks of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railway. This ends a long and fierce struggle which has been going on between these roads. The work will be pushed to an early completion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The receivers of the Northern Pacific today ordered the following economies: Salaries from $1,200 to $5,000 to be cut 10 per cent. Those from $5,000 to $10,000 to be cut 10 per cent. Salaries above $10,000 to be reduced 25 per cent.

CHANCE FOR ACHARIVARI.

Mr. Whitman Wants Musical Instruments at His Camp Meeting.

The two colored camp meetings on the Fifteenth street circus grounds drew large houses last evening. At the Washington camp Mrs. Sallie Saul, a white woman evangelist, preached. Then an 80-year-old colored elder, who boasts that while a slave he was sold to four different masters and never brought less than $300, sang "Brethering, John saw the holy number, way in the middle ob de air," in a style that was fashionable on the cotton plantations of the south "befo de wah."

The services at the Whitman camp consisted largely of a plea for funds to carry on the work. Mr. Whitman said that he wouldn't give a peanut shell for a man that wouldn't jar loose and give at least a nickel to the good cause. "I've got no use for a white man that will listen to me preach and then not give me a little money," he said. "It takes money to run this thing and keep me wound up. I don't say I'm a good preacher, but I generally get there. I'm like an old wind-mill. I may not get around more than twice an hour, but bless God, I come a winding and grind all there is to grind." He invited everybody to bring a musical instrument to the meetings. "Bring anything but a banjo or a tamborine. I draw the line at those two instruments," he said.

MORE INSPECTION TROUBLE.

Mr. Jones Has Called on Attorney General Little for an Opinion. Special to the Kansas City Times.

TOPEKA, KAN., Aug. 16.—State Grain Inspector Jones is having more trouble with the rival Boards of Trade of Kansas City, Kan., and Argentine and has called on Attorney General Little to help him out of his predicament. The inspectors of the Kansas City board have been making a practice of inspecting cars of wheat on Argentine side-tracks whether they were consigned to any particular warehouse or not. The Argentine board has claimed that its rival had no right to do this, and appealed to Inspector Jones to protect them. Jones referred the matter to Attorney General Little, who is of the opinion that the Kansas City board's inspectors have overstepped their authority and will write an opinion to that effect in a few days. The attorney general not only holds that the Kansas City board has no right to inspect wheat on Argentine tracks before it is consigned to a warehouse, but he also holds that it has no authority to inspect wheat within the limits of Argentine even though the wheat is consigned to a warehouse—that is within its territory.

CAUTION.

All remedial agents capable of destroying life by an overdose should be avoided. Morphine, opium, strychnine, arsenic, hyoscinamus and other powerful remedies do, at certain times, in very small doses, relieve the patient during their action in the system. But perhaps the second dose, if repeated, may aggravate and increase the suffering, and another dose cause death. There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like Radway's Ready Relief will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least difficulty in either infant or adult.
