meeting with much favor, and if the city authorities should follow his suggestions much suffering during the coming winter might be alleviated. The doctor says:

Deaths.

In the present hard times which are causing much distress among the working people and when hundreds of thousands are out of employment, while more are working for a mere pittance to keep starvation from their doors, it appears that the real cause of distress is lost sight of in this clamor over the Sherman silver purchasing clause.

AMUSEMENTS.

Let the city council pass an ordinance for the issuing of 1/4 million dollars in small bills of $1, $2 and $3 denominations and expend that amount in judicious public improvements, these bills to bear 4 per cent interest, with time of redemption from one to three years, or sooner. Such a procedure would in my opinion have two effects, one to stimulate our city and revive latent energies, the other to bring out money now lying in boxes and old socks. Those having money would soon embrace the opportunity to exchange it on account of the interest such scrip would bear, as no one would doubt for a moment the honesty of the people's pledge in the emergency. The legality or non-legality should cut no figure in the matter.

The riot in New York a few days ago was instigated and promoted by foreigners, mostly Russians, who have not been very long in this country, hardly long enough to shake off the germs of the detestable tyrannies and paternalistic systems of government in which they were born and bred, or we should say, ill-bred.

These New York rioters are of that element of surplus labor which has been introduced by our over estimated capacity and too liberal system of immigration laws.

The house was packed and both play and company scored a success. The play is a conventional melo-drama with the proper amount of love and hate. The stage settings are very fine, the Trafalgar square scene being the best.

Mrs. L. W. Spaeh the Latest Gasoline Victim.

infant, 2907 Sidney.

Of late years the character of the immigrant has so changed that this nation now needs deliverance by a reconstruction of the present existing laws and the application of a stringent system of inspection and examination.

The company is above the average. James Horne played Captain Temple the injured husband, with force and dignity. Emil La-Croix was hardly up to the standard as Paul de Vigne. Horace and little Walter Lewis handled their respective roles well. Miss Annie Barclay was the tearful Nellie Temple and Miss Jean Harold was the adventuress. Both did well. The play will run all week with Thursday and Saturday matinees.

Mrs. L. W. Spaeh was so terribly burned by an explosion of gasoline yesterday morning that she died last night. Mrs. Spaeh was preparing dinner when a slight explosion was heard and she ran out into the yard with her clothes in a blaze. Her son and daughter succeeded in snuffing the flames. She was attended by Dr. Hetherington and Fulton. The dead woman's home was at 735 Locust. There will be no inquest held.

We have already more of the disorderly element than we can easily take care of, and if the Russians, Poles and various nationalities remaining in their respective countries want more of individual liberty and freedom of thought and action let them take up arms at home, as our forefathers did in this country in the latter part of the last century. The discord in New York is a strong argument in favor of the restriction of immigration to protect our American working people.

This committee on public improvements of the upper house has referred to the city counselor the ordinance granting a franchise under the streets and alleys of the city to the telephone company. An amendment to the ordinance will be framed requiring the company to furnish the city with a system of police and fire alarms, which will necessitate 150 telephones to be kept by the company free of charge. Should more than 150 be needed the city will pay at the rate of $36 per year for each telephone in excess of the agreed number.
