

KANSAS CITY, MO.

AMERICAN CITIZEN.

FRIDAY EVENING, April 1st, 1892.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH.

We are glad to hear of the general approval of our course in regard to Doggett Dry Goods Co., many ladies have joined in the boycott and give his store a wide berth. We know of some ladies who ran a bill with him regularly, have transferred their trade to some other store. This action on their part, show them to be ladies of true worth and ladies who have the good of the race at heart. Lest some of our friends and readers forget that Doggett does not want them we call their attention to the matter again. Go somewhere else no matter how large or small the amount you wish to spend, give it to the store that invites your trade and will not insult you after having given the invitation. We should stand together in these matters and prove to proprietors of stores that their paid hirelings; cannot insult us with impunity. Some of our friends say they would not go to Doggett unless they could not procure the article elsewhere. We earnestly beg of you to go for nothing. We have gone to the extreme of not looking in his show windows or even reading his "Ad," we do not ask you to go that far but we do ask you to buy nothing of him. If the other stores do not have what you wish, send to St. Louis, Chicago or New York. We have a plan of organization some what crudely formed, at present, which we expect to present to you soon, which will make us a powerful factor in this city. When our plans are completed we shall ask everybody in the city to become a part and parcel of the organization and we hope to meet with your help, encouragement and endorsement.
