

NO END OF ATTRACTIONS.

Washington Park Is an Entertaining Place to Visit These Days.

The Thursday night late concerts at Washington park have proven a success, and so popular have they become with the patrons of the park that they will be continued during the entire season. The music is delightful when the band is located on the barge, and the settees along the shores are always filled with pleased listeners.

Sunday at Washington will be a big day. The management, always enterprising, has provided for an especial attraction in the shape of a wedding in a balloon. The couple will be married while standing in the basket, and just as soon as the ceremony is concluded the ropes will be loosened, the balloon will ascend, the band will play and the newly-wedded pair will start on their bridal trip through the air.

At night Miss Madeline Squires will make an ascension with an illuminated balloon.
