

EXPRESSES HIS GRATITUDE.*A. W. Little Appreciates the Work of His Defenders---Will Practice Law.

While the attorneys who conducted the defense of A. W. Little, which resulted in his acquittal of the charge of murder, are receiving congratulations on all sides much commendation is being given to D. H. Morse, than whom not one of the brilliant coterie who defended Mr. Little was more faithful to him, not excepting Mr. Little's loyal brother, Judge Lucius Little, of Kentucky. Mr. Morse was the only one of the local attorneys who argued for the defense, and his speech on all sides was pronounced a masterpiece of forensic art, while sincere and unstinted praise was also aroused by the eloquent plea of the venerable Judge Little in behalf of his brother. Mr. Little, since his acquittal, has sent messages to all his attorneys including Judge Hindman, Mr. Hutchings, Mr. McGrew, expressing his heartfelt gratitude for their work. Since he has retired from the banking business, he will engage in the practice of law on the South Side.
