

is it impelled by confederate cussedness toward the thrifty and enterprising north?

One "Pinky" Blitz, a Kansas City vote repeater, has just been sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge Phillips of the United States district court. The rascal was convicted of having voted "early and often" at the election of 1892—personating men long dead, and other names fraudulently put on the registration lists, the owners of which never had an existence save in the registration of the scoundrel who put them there. The St. Joseph Herald says:

"While we rejoice to know that Judge Phillips has given one scoundrel his deserts, it is to be regretted that his employers have not been reached. Today on the registration lists of Kansas City there are more than ten thousand names of dead men and of persons who have left the city, on the books of the recorder of voters. They are kept there by a rascally recorder for a purpose, and that purpose is for fraudulent voting at elections. The proper place for the man Owsley, recorder of voters, is the penitentiary. He should be sent there before another election."
